

Vera Pires

Leads the Engineering business unit at Front Wave, Engenharia e Consultadoria SA. After 10 years experience dealing with all major players in the Portuguese market (facade stone products, dimensioning, installation, pathology inspection and rehabilitation), she has built a trustful relationship with the stone sector currently extended at an international level. Vera holds a PhD in Materials Engineering from the Technical University of Lisbon. This highly innovative thesis has established several requirements needed for developing safe and sustainable projects employing stone facades.